Father John ponders.....

"The one sadness in life is not to be a saint." – Leon Bloy

We easily get disappointed with our feeble efforts to excel in life. Self-improvement is encouraged from just about every angle we can think of. At one time the self-improvement section in bookstores was the most popular. But now we have few bookstores and no such section to browse. I miss those books. I used to read the back covers to find out what the books were all about, imagining myself as a sage-in-waiting. I am sure each book had something worthwhile to say about how we can improve our daily living. Some secret by which we could find the elixir of life we were wanting to make life endlessly happy and secure. Alas, such a secret is no secret at all for self-improvement is hard work requiring great commitment and a great memory to remember all the various skills and insights we need to reach our goal.

From a spiritual perspective we find that God's grace is very illuminating. After all, Christ is the Light of the World! Grace is given to us for many reasons and all of them to build us up into the Image of Christ. Perhaps we have been trying to comply with grace all our lives yet seem to be getting nowhere. At least, it doesn't seem so to us. We live and act in such a way as to put our trust in God that He may think differently about us than we do about ourselves. While this impoverished way of thinking is understandable, it doesn't help. We were brought up to be humble and not to be presumptuous before the Lord. While humility is an excellent virtue, we mustn't confuse it with not acknowledging the great things the Almighty has done for us (Luke 1:49). We are each probably a lot further on the way to being remade in Christ's Likeness. Let us give thanks for God's wonders.

Let us be encouraged by Saint Paul as he writes to the Ephesians when he prays that "out of his infinite glory, may he give you the power through his spirit for your hidden self to grow strong, so that Christ may live in your hearts....." (Ephesians 3:16-17). We have all the saints in heaven praying for each of us that this outcome may come about. Our hidden selves growing strong is the very stuff of spirituality, it is the very stuff that makes saints. Little wonder that at a human level there is such a keen interest in self-improvement, sainthood is written deep within us. God goes beyond our human self-improvement and recreates the distorted Image of God we lost, and He makes all things new. To become a saint is the work of God and our small efforts at self-improvement are echoes of the work being undertaken by the Holy Spirit. Then we won't suffer the "one sadness in life".

STAFF MATTERS

Juliana is currently on leave and is visiting her family. She is expected back in the parish on 12th August. Tamar's mother has been taken ill and is in intensive care. Tamar has had to take some leave to be with her mother, and some admin tasks will be on hold until her return. I am sure Tamar would welcome your prayers for her Mum.

PARISH FINANCES

The parish has to undergo an external audit of its finances each year, and this year the audit will be undertaken by Dylan Fernandopulle on 14th August. In preparation for this audit the parish has had to prepare nearly 50 pages of reports and records for the auditor before he even sets foot in the parish. Part of the preparation also includes projected budgets for our expenditure in the 25/26 financial year, and while our finances are still healthy, they are a bit down on last year, limiting what we can afford to spend. If you can see your way clear to increasing your regular contributions, this would help enormously. For electronic givers, just contact the parish and we can get your regular contributions adjusted for you.

MEETING MYSELF: A SHORT COURSE IN PSYCHOSPIRITUALITY.

This brief course will introduce us to hidden aspects of ourselves that we may never have considered as impeding ourselves in life and in our relationships with one another and with God. The eight week presentation will be delivered by Father John Hogan, parish priest in Glenbrook. His hope is to help people flourish in life, unencumbered by underlying traits which can trip people up so easily. It is beginning on Thursday 11th September at 7pm, and it is essential to book in advance. More than 20 people have already booked. Please contact the parish on admin@stfinbars.org.au
